BUILDS

EveryDay Leaders

The Under-Pinning

People often see themselves in positions of leadership ONLY if they have job titles to match. The truth is, we all sit in leaders' chairs. Bill Clement will inspire your group to become EveryDay Leaders and achieve the highest levels of personal effectiveness and performance. He will activate the power you have to influence the buying decisions your customers make, while also elevating your teammates' moods, levels of persistence and contributions to group goals.

In a climate of often having to do More with Less, our personal performance as an EveryDay Leader is crucial not only to our organization's victories, but also our individual success.

Customizing Commitment

"I will tailor my presentation to fit your meeting theme by personally conferencing with you, as often as necessary, to gain insights into who you are as well as what your goals, challenges and objectives are. With thousands of audiences under my belt, the goal has never changed — to be the perfect match for a meeting theme and to exceed my clients' expectations."

What Clients Say About Bill

"In my 25 years of arranging speakers for national conferences, I have NEVER had a keynote speaker put in the time and preparation to customize his remarks for an audience like Bill. His presentation fit with both the theme of our conference and the identity of the audience. Outstanding! We have already booked Bill for next year's conference and I would not hesitate to recommend Bill Clement to ANY type of group or organization."
